THEME

Among the events which lead towards the wholesome development of the human beings, sport is one of these. It develops self-confidence, self-exploration and thereby, fulfills the personal achievement, skill acquisition, demonstrative ability, enjoyment, good health and well-being. Sports is actually the reflection of the collective effort to pursue human excellence in its optimum level in order to provide an opportunity for social integration through interaction. It is a source of pleasure, but more than that, it is inspiring, brings different cultures under a single umbrella, and can forecast the message of unity in diversity. In addition to these, sports can enrich society through the fostering of friendships as well as universal brotherhood among the different nations. Sports is also responsible of abiding by the rules and for adherence to values such as mutual respect, solidarity, fair play and so on.

When sports events like Olympic games, Common-Wealth Games, Asian Games, or those related to Cricket, Football, Volleyball, Tennis, Hockey or Badminton are organized, millions of spectators, viewers on television, internet or listeners on radio become intensified and as a result today's sports in the threshold of a new challenge. This new challenge is nothing but keeping up the purity in sports.

Though, in general, it is thought that sports, being a competition, its aim is to winning, but this is not the reflection of the true sportsmanship. The real sportsmanship is—Win with grace and lose with dignity. But we are about to forget this or never apply in the field due to the lack of the inculcation of values in sports. That is why, in this highly competitive sports era, we quite often hear about unethical behavior which includes cheating, bending the rules, doping, abuse of food additives, physical and verbal violence, harassment, sexual abuse and trafficking of young sportspersons, discrimination, exploitation, unequal opportunities, unethical sports practices, unfair means, excessive commercialization, use of drugs in sports, corruption and so on.

These are just a few examples of what are going on with sports today. There is not just one reason for these; part of the problem is that people ignore ethics while making decisions even in case of participating in sports. The forthcoming Periodical Lectures are concerned to focus on whether there is any significant role of ethics in sports and if yes, how the role of ethics is to be implemented?
